The New Portable Version of World's.Q: how to use generated settings file during build in NSIS I want to use the settingsfile (which I generated with NSIS GUI) during build time, for some configuration purposes. How should I call the corresponding functions of the generated Settings object? For example $var := CreateSettings CreateSites ServerSite1 $sites.ServerSite1[1] $var::ServerSite1[1] A: To get the settings from a settings file, you simply call the GetSettings() function. $var = GetSettings $sites.ServerSite1[1] = $var::ServerSite1[1] You can use the same logic to set the settings. GetSettings $var::ServerSite1[1] = $sites.ServerSite1[1] Use the Win32 API: procedure SetSettings(const Settings: TStringSettings); var Change: BOOL; ChangePath: string; SettingsFileName: string; begin ChangePath := Settings.Path + '\Change.ini'; SettingsFileName := Settings.Path + '\Change.ini'; Change := ChangeString(SettingsFileName, 'Sites.ServerSite1.1', "", ""); if Change then begin ChangeString(ChangePath, 'Sites.ServerSite1.1', "", ""); end; end; procedure GetSettings(var Settings: TStringSettings); var Change: BOOL; ChangePath: string; begin ChangePath := Settings.Path + '\Change.ini'; SettingsFileName := Settings.Path + '\Change.ini';
